Located in beautiful central PA, the Pennsylvania Military Museum and 28th Infantry Division Shrine occupy 67 acres that includes a military parade grounds, landing zone, and recreation/picnic area. These are adjacent to the Colonial Village of Boalsburg nestled at the foot of the Tussey Mountain range and within site of historic Mount Nittany. The physical beauty of the landscape, combined with small town charm and world class sports, dining and entertainment venues in nearby State College and Penn State makes a visit to the museum and area well worth the trip.
